

Hepatitis C Certified Practitioners (in zip-code order) as of 02/20/2008

Statement and Disclaimer regarding Hepatitis C Certified Practitioners

IMPORTANT

To all parties inquiring into this list:

Chicken Soup Chinese Medicine, Quan Yin Healing Arts Center, and their staff members and employees do not warrant or guarantee anything whatsoever regarding the practitioners named herein, nor recommend them to interested persons.

The sole purpose of this web listing is to enable interested persons to contact the practitioners listed herein and determine entirely for themselves whether to retain and use their services.

The "Hepatitis C Certified Practitioners" listed herein have taken an intensive course, approved for Continuing Education credit by the California Acupuncture Board and by the California Board of Registered Nurses (and in some instances, also approved by the Texas Board of Acupuncture Examiners, or the Florida Board of Acupuncture). They have passed the qualifying test at the conclusion of the course.

At the time of the Course, they represented themselves to be currently licensed or registered to practice acupuncture (not necessarily herbs) or to be currently NCCAOM acupuncture-certified in states with no licensing or registration requirement.

It is the responsibility of any person interested in their services to inquire directly of any practitioner listed in order to obtain any and all information about that practitioner which may affect that person's health or finances. Such information would include but not be limited to the practitioner's current licensure and abilities as a practitioner.

Statement and Disclaimer regarding Hepatitis C Certified Practitioners

IMPORTANT

To all parties inquiring into this list:

Chicken Soup Chinese Medicine, Quan Yin Healing Arts Center, and their staff members and employees do not warrant or guarantee anything whatsoever regarding the practitioners named herein, nor recommend them to interested persons.

The sole purpose of this web listing is to enable interested persons to contact the practitioners listed herein and determine entirely for themselves whether to retain and use their services.

The "Hepatitis C Certified Practitioners" listed herein have taken an intensive course, approved for Continuing Education credit by the California Acupuncture Board and by the California Board of Registered Nurses (and in some instances, also approved by the Texas Board of Acupuncture Examiners, or the Florida Board of Acupuncture). They have passed the qualifying test at the conclusion of the course.

At the time of the Course, they represented themselves to be currently licensed or registered to practice acupuncture (not necessarily herbs) or to be currently NCCAOM acupuncture-certified in states with no licensing or registration requirement.

It is the responsibility of any person interested in their services to inquire directly of any practitioner listed in order to obtain any and all information about that practitioner which may affect that person's health or finances. Such information would include but not be limited to the practitioner's current licensure and abilities as a practitioner.
